

Last year I joined the Youth Against Human Trafficking group at my school, and despite the fact that I am unable to continue this activity this year the cause still holds a place so dear to my heart. As part of the group, I took part in fundraising activities for the Blue Dragon association that works with victims of human trafficking in Vietnam. I additionally volunteered to work with Youth Underground in their short film and was able to say a few words on what I know about the cause. I have learnt so much about human trafficking that I never knew existed and my primary mission now is to educate those around me of the issue as I believe education and awareness of this horrific crime is the first step to ending it.
